GAME VIEWING AND ACTIVITIES

The Ngorongoro Conservation Area is a UNESCO World Heritage Site located 180km west of Arusha in the Crater Highlands area of Tanzania. The main feature of the Ngorongoro Conservation Area is the Ngorongoro Crater, the world's largest inactive, intact, and unfilled volcanic caldera. The crater, which formed when a large volcano exploded and collapsed on itself two to three million years ago, is 610 metres deep and its floor covers 260 square kilometres. The crater is densely populated with wildlife and is home to about 30,000 animals. There are no giraffe, topi or impala in the crater - they most likely find it too difficult to negotiate the crater rim cliffs and there is also inadequate grazing for large herds of antelope, inside the crater. The crater is full of wildebeest, zebra, buffalo, eland, warthog, hippo and elephants. Supported by a year-round supply of water and food, the crater supports a massive variety of animals, including its impressive population of predators, including lions, hyenas, jackals, cheetahs and the elusive leopard. Key wildlife: lion, rhino, hippo, wildebeest, zebra, wild dog, leopard, cheetah, crocodile, and flamingo.

CLIMATE

Due to Tanzania's proximity to the equator the climate is characterised by warm days and cool evenings. However due to the altitude of the Crater it is quite cold and we advise guests to pack warm clothes when visiting this camp. With two rainy seasons, the long rains fall in April and May (into early June) and the short rains fall in October and November. The best times to travel are December, January, February or late June to early October.

CLOTHING

Due to the altitude of the Crater it is quite cold and we advise guests to pack warm clothes when visiting this camp. Clothing should be cool and comfortable. Greens, browns and khaki coloured clothing are advisable for safaris. We suggest long sleeves and long trousers and for morning and evenings due to mosquitoes and a fleece jacket as it could be cold early mornings. Sturdy and comfortable shoes are essential. A complimentary overnight laundry service is offered in the camp (weather dependent). Sunscreen, sunglasses and hats are essential. Binoculars and good cameras are an absolute must. The camp offers complimentary mosquito repellent and toiletries.
